TREASURY DEPARTMENT EXPECTS MORE BONDS.

New York and Chicago Banks Expected to Make Deposits and Loosen the Moncy Market.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Washington, Sept. 9.-Since Secretary Shaw made his announcement that he had arranged with the national banks to increase their circulation, the Treasury Department has received $4,017,000 in bonds leposited to secure circulation, and that amount of new ciculation has been issued.

No single bank has as yet taken out a large amount of circulation, but the banks are gradually depositing bonds. To-day bonds to the amount of only $211,000 were received. It is the expectation at the Treasury Legariment that during the present week some of the larger national banks of New York and Chicago especially will denselt large amounts of bonds to lessen the tightsoning tendencies of the money market at both of these centers.

The great increase in national bank circulation in the last three years was shown by you agarest that have been compiled in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency. On September 6, 182, the total circulation of the national banks was approximately $202,000,00. September 6 of this year the total circulation was approximately $262,000,00.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN OPENS WITH GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

Thirty-Five Thousand Persons Turn Out to Hear the First Gun Fired at Joplin, Mo .- William J. Bryan, Governor Dockery, William J. Stone and Mayor James A. Reed Address a Vast Audience - Monster Street Parade and Fireworks Display at Night Close Day's Celebration.

ALL DOUBT OF PARTY SUCCESS AT THE POLLS IS REMOVED.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Joplin, Mo., Sept. 9.-The opening of the Democratic State campaign of 1902 was by far the most brilliant political event that ever occurred in Southwest Missouri, and was the auspicious beginning of a vigorous and successful campaign. Fully 19,000 persons sat in the big pavilion at Cox's Park all afternoon and listened to the eminent speakers, and twice that number were unable to get within earshot, and were forced to seek other places of amusement. The Jefferson Club men of St. Louis, $19 strong, and accompanied by their drum and fife corps, were the first of the visiting delegations to arrive. They came at 9 a. m. and were at once made the guests of the Joplin Club, and the leading fraternal orders of he city. Other special trains brought in delegations from Kansas City and Jeffer-son City, among them William J. Stone, Dockery, Chairman William Rothwell, Lieutenant Governor John A. Lee and Secretary of State Samuel B. Cook.

LARGEST DELEGATIONS.

The largest individual delegations were rom Vernon and Newton counties. The Stone Club of Vernon County numbered while the Benton Club of Newton was equally as large. All wore hickory hats and were armed with hickory sticks. Other delegations were present from every county of Southwest Missouri, and all were ac empanied by bands, The Kansas City contigent numbered 600. It brought along the Third Regiment Band, and was probably the foremost in unbridled Democratic en

The speaking, which marked the opening of the State campaign, took place at Cox's Park. The grand stand of the Joplin Baseball Association was used as the nueclus of a temporary pavilion, an immense circus tent was erected within the front wall of the stand, and the rostrum was placed at the side of the tent. The whole structure accommodated 7,000 perons, and 3,000 more stood on the outside The assemblage was called to order at 2:30 p. m. by Chairman Rothwell, and from that time until darkness scarcely a single person left the pavillion. Outbursts of enthuslasm at times swept the vast assemblage that seemed more characteristic of a heated presidential campaign than one of involved. The first speaker was William J. Stone former Governor and Democratic candidate for United States Senator. Stone was always the favorite of the Fifteenth Congressional District, which he formerly represented in Congress. His reception today, however, was one of the remarkable features of the entire event. The audience accorded an enthusiastic welcome to him. He was followed by Governor Dockery, who also enjoyed a warm reception. Dockery was succeeded by Mayor of Kansas City Reed, another favorite of Southwest Mis-

William J. Bryan, the principal orator of the day, had been delayed on account of Joplin until after 5 o'clock. He was immediately driven to the park, and as his carriage entered the grounds the audience arose to its feet and remained in that position cheering and hurrahing until Mr. Bryan had taken his place on the speaker's platform. The scene lasted several minutes The audience would not allow Mr. Bryan to conclude his speech until darkness forced a The closing event of the day was the monster parade that marched through the business section of the city to-night. The parade marched in ten divisions including bands, flambeau clubs, horsemen, floats, automobiles and traction engines. Fifteen thousand rounds of blank ammunition were used by gun clubs, made up of 500 men, and many boxes of dynamite were exploded outside,

The entire line of march was illuminated with red fire. All the marchers were provided with roman candles and flags, while the horsemen car ried red fire sticks and were equipped with plumes and banners.

The visiting delegations pronounced it the most brilliant and elaborate campaign parade that ever marched in Missouri. All the special trains were held until the parade was over and the city was then quickly re-

Some of the largest delegations in the city were from counties which usually regard a campaign with more or less aputhy. There was scarcely a village in the opening and from some of them the Democratic population turned out en masse,

The great parade upon which the people of Joplin, regardless of politics, had expended thousands of dollars aroused the admiration of the visitors. At the head of the line of march all the distinguished visitors rode in automobiles. The first auto was occupied by William J. Bryan and J. Ed Pearson, secretary of the Jasper Club. The second was occupied by Governor Dockery, and the third by Major James A. Reed of Kansas City. The members of the State Committee rode in the body of the parade in tally-hos.

MISSOURI AND KANSAS CORN CROPS NOW SAFE.

Weather Bureau Says Conditions Were Generally Favorable Last Week for Maturing of Crops.

Washington, Sept. 9 .- Following is the Agricultural Department's weekly summary of crop conditions: eys and lake region, with more than the average levs and lake region, with more than the average rainfail in portions of the upper Mississippi Valley, manuring crops have made generally favorable, though not rapid advancement. The greater part of Texas, in which State severe drought prevailed at the close of the previous week, has received abundant rainfail and drought conditions in the Middle Atlantic Coast districts have also been largely relieved, but the interior of the Middle Atlantic States Ohio Valley and portions of the lower lake region and South Atlantic States continue to need rain.

Lagot to neavy froms were quite general in the normer districts from Montana to New England and the Middle Atlantic States from the 3d to the 6th, with but signt injury. Hain is much needed in Washington and Oregon, but otherwise the conditions on the Pacific Coast were favorable.

Notwitherunding the prevalence of low tempera.

Notwithstanding the prevalence of low tempera-ness throughout the own belt and copious rain-nies throughout the own belt and copious rain-nies in portions of the Mississippi Vailey, the own crop has made very satisfactory advance-tion toward metarity and wholly escaped in-ary in the States essensed of the Mississippi after from frosts occurring on the 4th and 3th, ith but slight injury in the States to the west-ard. with but slight injury in the Scales ward.

The bulk of the corn crop in Missouri and Kanmis and much of the early planted in Nebraska and the States of the Onlo Vailey is now safe.

In Iowa, where corn has ripened very slowly, two-thirds of the crop will probably be safe by Suptember 20, and the talance was require ten days longer.

Soptemore a sum of spring wheat, although fur-ther retarded, has made more favorable progress than in the previous week.

Tense and a large part of the central and east-ern districts of the cotton belt have received abundant rainfall during the week, but it is doubtful whether the beneficial effects of these rains to late cotton will offset the injury done to the open staple. atmount remain damaged of these rains to late cotton will offset the injury done to the open staple.

In the States of the upper lake region the reports respecting apples are favorable, while those from New York and New England are variable, indicating a very light crop in some sections, with plentiful yields in others. In the Obio Valley and most of the Middle Atlantic States, the outlook continues very poor.

Plowing for fall seeding has made more favorable advancement in the Southern States and Missouri Valley, but in the Ohio Valley and portlons of the Middle Atlantic States and lake region the soil is too dry for this work.

Week Was More Favorable for Maturing Corn in Missouri.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Washington, Sept. 2.- The weekly crop report made public to-day by the Department of Agriculture gives local conditions in the Southwest as follows:

Southwest as follows:

Missouri-Week more favorable for maturing corn; unix of crop now safe from frust; cutting general. Plowing for wheat progressing favorably in most districts; seeding commenced. Cotton opening rapidly: picking progressing; fair yield. All tokecto cut; heavy crop. Apples still dropping and rotting considerably. Pastures and late forage crops excellent. Potatoes rotting somewhat. what. Alphama — Coplous to neavy rains damaged much open cotton and retarded picking but improved very late corn and minor crops. Cotton mostly stopped fruiting; bulk of crop open; picking now being pushed; some sprouting in hous; crop will be earliest and lightest in many years. Considerable corn housed; indicating light yield. Much fooder being saved.

Allestssippl—General rains first of week; remainder clear and cool. Open cotton damaged wheat of somewhat. Potatoes large, but retting in wet grounds.

Oklahoma and Indian Terri ory—Rv ms and cooler weather improved cotton, but boll worms still causing damage; picking in g neral progress, with good to very poor yields. Curn, Raffir, broom corn, came, grass and sweet potatoes giving fair to good yields. Pl.wing nearing completion. Some wheat sown and coming up well. Rafins benefited fruit.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Hackett issued to-day the United States

the 5th and 6th. Over most of the western and extreme southeen counties the total rainfall for the week ranged from 1 to 2 inches and in a few localities exceeded 3 imples, but in the eastern sections it was generally light. Excessive rains in few localities caused some damage by overflowing of streams.

The weather has been favorable for maturing the corn crops during the preceding week and the greater portion of the crop is out of danger from the frost, but in portions of the northern central and western sections there is still some complaint that corn is not ripening as rapidly as it should. But cutting is in progress in nearly all sections and in many of the southern counties is well advanced. In a few localities late corn has been considerably injured by chinch bugs. In a few of the northern and western counties the rains have kept the ground too wet for piewing, but in most sections it is now in excellent condition, and preparations for wheat sowing are progressing rapidly. Conditerable wheat will probably be sown during the carning week. In those districts where heavy rains fell thrashing has made slow progress, and considerable grain stacked is becoming greatly damaged. Cotton, in the southeastern counties, is opening moddy, and ploking is in progress, with fair yields. Heavy crop of tobacco has been cut in Carroll and Fulnam counties. Carroll and Futnam countries. Potation are being dug, and sorghum-making is in progress, and both crips are above the average, though there is considerable complaint that potations are rotting and taking second growth.

Tomatices and calling and taking second

Tomatoes and cabbages are also rotting badly in some sections, as a result of the cool and damp weather. Turning are making a fine growth, and all late forume crops are excellent. Pastures are improving in the sou heastern counties and are generally in excellent condition in other sections. other sections.

Apples continue to rot and drop budly in some places, especially in the scuthern counties, and in a few counties considerable damage has been done by high winds, but as a rule the crop is maturing well, and gatherine has commenced. Late peaches are rotting badly in portions of Duale and Webster counties.

ILLINOIS CROP REPORT. Fall Plowing Is Begun-Corn Yield Is Satisfactory.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9 .- In his crop bulletin issued to-day M. E. Blystone, director of the Illinois section of Weather Bureau, United States Department of Agriculture, gives the following summary for the week gives the following summary for the week ending September 8:

The weather the past week has been generally dry and favorable both for farm work and for ma uring crops. There was, however, a good rain over most of the State Friday night, the effect of which was beneficial and which interrupted farm work but little. During most of the week the weather was cool, but the latter part was warmer. On the mornings of the 4th and 5th light frosts occurred in various parts of the State, especially in the northern district, but no damage resulted.

light frosts occurred in various parts of the State especially in the northern district, but no damage resulted.

Considerable plowing and preparing of ground for fall seeding has been done, and in a few places some fights have been seeded. Though generally the ground is in good conditions for seeding, in some localities it is hard and difficult to plow. It was brought into somewhat better condition, however, by the rain of Friday night. Thrashing has progressed rapidly during the week and in some localities is completed. The yield of oats in generally fair to very good, but in many places the quality is poor, being injured by rain while in shock. In many localities, however, the injury is much less than had been feared would result from the rains.

Though the cool weather of the week has been unfavorable for the rain of advancement of corn toward maturity, other conditions have been very favorable, and the crop has generally made satisfactory progrets. Most correspondents report prospects of a very heavy yield. Continued improvement in the crop appears to have taken place in the southern district, though there has been some injury by chirch bugs. Considerable corn is niready safe from injury by rivet, especially in the southern part of the State, and much of it has been part in shock. The bulk of the corp will be safe by September 15 to 20, but in some localities it will not be safe before October I. However, many part of the state, and much of the central district the yield is light. Many farmers are cutting a good second crop of hay. The crop of cowpess is generally good. Our hay armers are cutting a good second crop of hay. The crop of cowpess is generally good. Our hay armers are cutting a good second crop of hay. The crop of cowpess is generally good. TEXAS COTTON OUTLOOK. United States Report Predicts Less Than an Average Crop. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 9.-To-day the weekly crop bulletin of the Texas section United States Weather Bureau, was issued for the week ending September 8: Relative to the cotion crop, it is stated that Relative to the cotton crop, it is stated that opinions are diverse as to the effects of the rains of the week on the cotton plant. A majority of the correspondints state that a considerable portion of the late-painted cotton will be materially benefited, the plant will take on new blooms, and the young holls will mature which otherwise could not. Others are of the opinion that, while the rains were beneficial, it is offset by damage to the staple by wind and rain, the increased ravages of the weevil and boll worms and returnation in picking.

The rains were of little, if any, benefit to The rains were of little, if any, benefit to early-planted cotton. The boil weevil continue very numerous in the area infested by this insect. Holl worms are decreasing, and reports of these pests are few and those sporadic. In many sections picking has been retarded by showers, but in greater portions of the State is under full nead, and well advanced to this date. LACK OF WATER DISTURBS BELLEVILLE.

Wells on Pleasant Hill Are Going Dry and a Grave Problem Faces Residents.

Lack of water in the wells of the residents of that part of Belleville known as Pleas-

Weils which have heretofore, even in the dryest seasons, given an ample supply, now refuse to yield any of the liquid through the pumps, making it necessary to bail the water out with buckets. As the stage of the water is growing lower daily, the resi-dents of Pieasont Hill fear a veritable faminc unless they can be connected with the city water supply. This plan, too, will prove quite expensive, for the majority of the persons affected have installed pumps and windmills.

The lack of water, according to the engineer, is due to the sinking of numerous deep wells in various sections of the city. These deep wells have been sunk principally by Beileville Water Company in what is believed to be a subterranean lake or stream. The wells of Pleasant Hill are geveral hundred feet higher and it is thought that since the tapping of this lake the water removed is replaced from the upper reservoirs.

RAILROAD COMPANY IS SUED.

John A. Shepherd, vice president of the State Bank of Jerseyville.

The suit was commenced by Miss Shepherd's attorneys, Bell & Burton, of Carlinville, Ill. Only the precipe was filed. The suit grows out of an accident which befell Miss Shepherd two years ago at the passenger station of the defendant company at Jerseyville, in which the car wheels of a passenger train passed over both hands. Three of the fingers of the right hand were mashed so that amputation was necessary. One of the fingers of the left hand was injured in a similar manner. The accident occurred at 6 o'clock in the morning, just as Miss Shepherd was boarding a train for St. Louis. The train started and Miss Shepherd fell under the wheels of the coach. Miss Shepherd is one of the most popular young ladies in Jerseyville. She was crowned queen of the last carnival and street fair in Jerseyville.

Ryan of Alton is that by letters and personal interviews, prior to the meeting of the consultors and rectors, he urged them to vote for Bishop John Lancaster Spalding of Peoria to succeed the late Archbishop Feehan.

Among the local clergy who received such letters were the Very Reverend M. J. Fitzsimmons, rector of the Holy Name Caitdral, who was consultor of the archdiocese's Vicar General, and the Reverend N. J. Nooney, the irremovable rector of St. Columbkill's Church.

It was also said that Bishop Ryan, for the success of the candidacy of Bishop Spalding, has continued his efforts even after the list was announced, and that he has been practically electioneering for some time past in the interest of Bishop Spalding.
